CONTAGIOUS

HEARTACHE

LEARN how to avoid it

Follow these directions carefully for maximum relief. db Harris and his Men of Action are not responsible for misdiagnosis or lack of cure.

1. Cover your lips and/or other infectious areas in temptuous moments.
2. Deliver tactful questions and conduct personal analysis of potential victims.
3. Practice—daily—how to “walk away” from questionable group activities.
4. Conceptualize facial expressions that emote understanding and care.
5. Review suspect phone calls or messages that could lead to heartache.
6. Read—daily—Graff’s Manual of the Heart and keep a journal.
7. Schedule daily and/or repeated sessions with enclosed audio recording.
8. Avoid reminiscing about individual human relations incidents.
9. Create a special place in your mind to go to in emergency situations.
10. Designate someone who can help you “snap out” of dangerous thinking.

CONTAGIOUS HEARTACHE IS serious

how can it spread ?

1. Through a restless friend's discontentment with their own relationship.
2. In areas such as juke joints, honky tonks, and dark lounges.
3. Through close contact, such as caressing, hugging, or kissing affected victims.
4. By observing others as they cry over 'love lost'.
5. Through excessive visual concentration upon affected victim's physique.
6. By sharing a cigarette or 'friendship pipe' that contains marijuana.
7. By dancing with an affected victim.
8. Through whispering.
9. Through imagination and 'self hypnosis' [most severe].
10. Through enticing words that contradict objective reality.
